

To Whom It May Concern:

Customer service, attention to detail and a genuine desire to do business are essential elements of running a successful company and yet they are often hard to find in businesses these days. Complete Framing and Andrew Scott are exception!

I have known Andrew for over 2 years having initially completed one of the framing courses and then having been a persistent (although not always consistent) user of the workshop. In all of this time I have been consistently impressed with Andrew's attitude to business. The customer service he provides is second to none and this is offered with a genuine desire to do only the best for both the customer and his business.

I have seen Andrew develop his computer and administration skills over the past 2 years in an ongoing approach to improve the business operation of Complete Framing. From marketing to organisation of Local Exhibitions Andrew has shown that he is willing to work outside the square to make Complete Framing stand out from its competitors.

I would highly recommend Andrew in any business endeavors he chooses to undertake and am pleased to call him a friend.

Should you require any further information I would be only happy to elaborate.

Kind regards
